

ESTABLISHED 1860—59th YEAR. NO. 28.

STANFORD, LINCOLN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, TUESDAY, APRIL 7, 1914

TUESDAYS AND FRIDAYS

FORMAL TRANSFER MADE
OF STANFORD POSTOFFICEJames C. Florence Hands Over Keys to Miss Mary Bruce After Sixteen
Years of Service

After sixteen years of faithful and efficient service in handling the mail at the Stanford postoffice, James C. Florence handed over the keys to Miss Mary Bruce, the new postmistress, Sunday morning. Mr. Florence, a staunch republican, succeeded Col. Jno. W. Kott as postmaster, soon after McKinley became president. Almost twenty years ago, and has served under succeeding presidents since that time. Notwithstanding differences in politics, practically all of the democratic patrons of the local office, will unite with their republican friends in saying to Mr. Florence "Well done, thou good and faithful servant." And similar sentiment will be expressed of the work of his son, A. B. Florence, who has been his assistant practically all of the time.

Democrats have hungered for a sight of a democratic postmaster for many long, weary years, and they will be amply rewarded for the next four years at least by the sight of the cheery and attractive countenance of Miss Mary Bruce, through the little window. She received her commission late last week, and took charge of the office Sunday. She is a woman of fine executive and business ability and will soon get onto the ropes, and will have little trouble in handling the office for her assistant, W. A. Carson served as postmaster at Crab Orchard under Cleveland and is thoroughly familiar with the duties of the office. Mr. Florence will remain in the office a couple of weeks, "breaking in" the new officials, and will then retire. He has not yet decided what he will do, but doesn't have to worry much, for sixteen years at the pie counter have not left him a pauper by any means. His son, A. B. Florence, has several nice positions in view, one to travel at intervals for a fire hose company. He has not yet decided what he will engage in, however, but may go on the road for this firm for a while.

Entertained Friends

Mr. Prescott Brown entertained a number of his friends very charmingly last Friday evening at Rock. Delightful refreshments, of cakes and ices were served during the evening. Those present were: Mr. Prescott Brown, and Miss Patience Perkins, Mr. Bryan Perkins and Miss Claudia Eaton, Mr. Clinton Coleman and Miss Nellie W. Hill, Mr. Hartwell Shanks and Miss Lettie W. McKinney, Mr. Harvey Wilkison and Miss Lillian Holclaw, Mr. William Mobley, Miss Gertrude Wilkison, Mr. Spaulding Hill and Miss Matty Grimes, Mr. James Triddle, Mr. Sam Emory and Miss Martha Roney.

Rids Town of Bill Lee

Police Judge R. L. Davidson believes that he has finally rid Stanford of Bill Lee, the notorious negro bootlegger, for all time to come. Lee was given a jail sentence of 40 days and fined $100 for selling whisky last week. He managed to "dig up" the money but the prospect of laying out forty long summer days in jail did not appeal to him, so Judge Davidson agreed to suspend the jail sentence on condition that Lee get out of town and stay out. He believes that it will be worth more to Stanford to keep Lee out than it would to have him do 40 days in jail at the expense of the city.

Lincoln Girl Weds in Oklahoma

The Oklahoma City, Oklahoma announces an engagement of much interest here, as the bride is a very popular Lincoln county girl who recently moved to the new state to make her home. That paper says:

Mr. and Mrs. William Randolph Denham announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Winnie Davis Blith, to Mr. John Carr Spivey, the wedding to take place on Wednesday, April 8th at the home of the bride-elect's parents, corner of Thirty-eighth street and Santa Fe avenue.

$1,000 For Widow of 'Shiners' Victim

The House Committee on Claims has reported favorably a bill appropriating $1,000 for Emily Byrd, of Compton, Wolf county, widow of William A. Byrd, Deputy United States Marshal who was killed in a moonshine raid in Eastern Kentucky in 1897. Representative W. J. Fields, of Olive Hill, Ky., had introduced a bill for $10,000 for Mrs. Byrd. Some difficulty was experienced in establishing that Byrd was in the raid, since the roster at the Department of Justice did not show it.

J. W. Walter III at Lancaster

John W. Walter, one of Lancaster's most highly respected citizens is seriously ill. He is suffering with heart disease and other complications, and because of his advanced years serious uneasiness is felt by his friends and relatives over his condition. He is a brother of Wallace Walter, Jesse Walter and J. M. Walter, of this city.

Bad breath, bitter taste, dizziness and a general "no account" feeling is a sure sign of a torpid liver. HERBINE is the medicine needed. It makes the liver active, vitalizes the blood, regulates the bowels and restores a fine feeling of energy and cheerfulness. Price 50c. Sold by Shugars' drug store, Stanford, Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard.

STOLE THREE GALLONS BOOZE

Burglar Breaks Open Door to Warehouse at Traylor Distillery

Report was made to Deputy Internal Revenue Collector, Rowan Saufley Saturday that burglars had entered the warehouse of the old Traylor distillery on Dix River, five miles north of Stanford some time Friday night, and that three gallons of whisky were missing. Watchman Wint, of the government service, who is on duty at the abandoned distillery, discovered early Saturday morning that the lock on the main door had been broken off, evidently by an ax, and he found the whisky missing. There are about three hundred barrels of booze still in the warehouse, although the distillery has not been run for several years. It is owned by Paxton Bros., of Cincinnati, and is under government supervision. Deputy Collector Saufley, who has his headquarters in this city has been notified that Special Deputy McFarland will be sent here from Danville to make an inspection and examination.

P. O. BURGLARS STILL AT WORK

Postoffice at Lawrenceburg and Depot at Shelbyville Ate Robbed

The postoffice robbers who broke into the Stanford postoffice about a week ago, seem to be continuing their operations in this part of the state.

For the second time within a year the postoffice in Lawrenceburg, was broken into and looted at an early hour Saturday morning. The robbers carried off $100 worth of stamps. It is thought that they also got a small sum of money which was left in the drawer for change. The back door was forced open with tools which were stolen from the tool house at the new government building. The safe was loaded with nitroglycerin and practically wrecked. The compartment of the safe where the money was kept apparently was not opened by the explosion and while there were many thousands of dollars worth of stamps of larger denomination in the safe, nothing larger than two cents was taken. Several persons living near the building heard the explosion but made no investigation and failed to call the police. Inspectors have been summoned by wire.

The safe at the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad depot in Shelbyville, was blown open about 1 o'clock the same morning and the steel inner compartment, containing $65, was carried away by the segmen, who left no trace as to the direction they took. Nothing else in the office was disturbed. Neighbors heard the explosion of the safe, but did not give the alarm, as they were not certain as to the noise.

We Know He Made a Good Legislator

Hon. L. M. Smith, who made such a creditable record in the recent legislature, and who was one of the few members, of that body who came out with flying colors, is receiving many flattering requests from different parts of the Eighth District to become a candidate for Congress, and he has the matter under serious consideration. In his talk here on "Moonlight Schools", Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart paid out enough representative of the compliment of saying that he was on the right side of every question that came up in the legislature, and Commissioner of Agriculture Newman, in his talk to the farmers Wednesday said that Mr. Smith voted for every question that came up for the aid or benefit of the farmers. If Mr. Smith decides to run he will make it mighty interesting for the other fellow.

Andrew J. Payne Dead

Andrew J. Payne died at his home a few miles from Lancaster on the Buckeye pike on last Sunday afternoon. Payne has long been a sufferer from tuberculosis and this was aggravated by an attack of pneumonia which caused his death. His remains were placed at rest in the Lancaster on Monday afternoon. He is survived by his wife, who is a sister of the late Walton Eason, by two brothers who reside at Crab Orchard and by two sisters, one of whom lives in Arkansas and the other in Oklahoma.

The Ladies Aid Society, of the Moreland Christian church, will give an entertainment consisting of recitations, music etc., on Saturday night before Easter. It will be good. All come. Admission 10 cents.

A prudent mother is always on the watch for symptoms of worms in her children. Paleless, lack of interest in play, and peevishness is the signal for WHITES CREAM VERMIFUGE. A few doses of this excellent remedy puts an end to the worms and the child soon acts naturally. Price 25c per bottle. Sold by Shugars' drug store, Stanford, Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard.

BECKHAM SPEAKS TO BIG
CROWD IN HARRODSBURGPoliticians Say He Will Carry Mercer County By Big Majority—Senatorial Gossip

A crowd that occupied every seat in the court house and then packed and jammed the aisles, greeted Gov. Beckham when he spoke at Harrodsburg Monday afternoon, in his campaign for the democratic nomination for United States Senator. He was introduced by Hon. W. W. Stephenson, who told how he had been betrayed and sold out by four so-called democratic members of the legislature in 1908 when Bradley, was sent to the Senate. Gov. Beckham made a fine speech, delighting his hearers, who frequently applauded his remarks. Everyone conceded that he had greatly strengthened himself in Mercer county.

Predictions are freely made by the knowing politicians of that county that he will carry the county by about 400 or 500 majority. County Judge Lee Curry told an L. J. man that Beckham will carry the county by 500 majority and another official said that the only serious opposition against Beckham now in Mercer was the fight being made by Judge Charles A. Hardin, for Stanley.

Democrats were present at the speaking Monday not only from Mercer but from Boyle, Garrard, Lincoln, Anderson and Woodford.

McCreary Opens at Winchester

Gov. McCreary opened his campaign for the U. S. Senatorial nomination at Winchester Monday and the newspaper dispatches say that he had a big crowd and much interest was manifested. He was introduced by Hon. John M. Stevenson, chairman of the Democratic County Committee. The governor made a clean-cut speech, with little reference to his rivals for the nomination, but devoting himself almost entirely to his own record. It is the plan of the governor to make about two speeches a week from now on through the campaign.

Albert D. Wingate, of Danville, son-in-law of Robert McGowan, of that place, this week began his duties as Field Agent for the Census Bureau.

Louisville May Go for Beckham

A dispatch from Louisville this week said: J. C. W. Beckham received personal assurance that he will "get a square deal" in Louisville, when he paid a visit to the City Hall Thursday and conferred informally with the political potentates. He described his visit as "just a friendly call," but the question of politics naturally came up.

Mayor Buschmeyer, in discussing Beckham's visit said: "It is absolutely certain that the organization will take no part in the Senatorial race. All candidates will get a square deal and a fair count. Louisville has no candidates in the race and no special interest in seeing any of the candidates defeated or elected."

"I was in a position to tell Mr. Beckham that the votes will be counted, however they may fall. After a non-interference for the United States Senatorship has been chosen by the Democrats of the State, the Jefferson county organization will get in behind the winner to help make certain his election."

E. T. Tierney, Chairman of the Board of Public Safety, said:

"I am for Mr. Beckham and will vote for him."

Bullock Says He's for McCreary

County Judge Frank A. Bullock, leader of the Democratic party in Fayette county, in many hard campaigns threw a bombshell into the camp of Congressman Stanley's friends when he declared for Gov. McCreary.

Railroad Commissioner Billy Blair, who fought McCreary tooth and nail in the convention fight of 1911 and 1912, has already declared for the Governor, tho' everybody who knows him believes he is at heart for Stanley. Judge Bullock said today that there was no opposition to McCreary in Fayette county, tho' former Mayor John Skain has come out strong for former Gov. Beckham. Judge Bullock was told that it was being reported over the state that the Fayette county Democratic organization would be for Stanley. He said:

"That's nonsense. I'm for old McCreary, first, last and all the time; and what's more he's going to land the nomination, hands down."

Judge Bullock said there had never been any real Stanley sentiment in the county and that there was little interest in the Congressman's campaign here. He went on to say that Fayette county had never been strong for Goebl and that, rightly or wrongly, Gov. Beckham had fallen heir to some of that lack of strength.

"I can't pretend to say what is going on in other parts of the State," said Judge Bullock, "but Fayette county has always voted for McCreary and we will do so again."

Stanley Denies Rumor of Withdrawal

The Lexington Leader, which first published the rumor that Stanley would withdraw, said Saturday:

A friend of Hon. A. O. Stanley recently telegraphed him asking his comment on the reports published in the Leader and in Louisville papers to the effect that he might withdraw from the Senatorial race.

Mr. Stanley's reply, received Monday is as follows: "Report of my withdrawal is an absurd and groundless canard, too silly for serious consideration."

It is evident from the tone of the telegram that Mr. Stanley's understanding of the published report was that his withdrawal, if it took place, would be without any endorsement whatever. It was pointed out, however, in the Leader that Mr. Stanley's withdrawal would not be prompted by influences not at all to Mr. Stanley's liking, through the simple process of withholding at least some of the revenues needed for the continuance of an active campaign.

A Louisville paper in discussing the same subject said that the opponents of Mr. Beckham were coming to the conclusion that it was useless to attempt to fight Beckham with Stanley, and further said that while no effort might be made to induce him to withdraw, and that he might continue a candidate until the close of the campaign, the support given at the opening of the campaign would be found to have melted away at the close. It is scarcely to be expected that Mr. Stanley would concede the possibility of any such eventuality, and that in denying it, he would use terms as strong as possible.

Beckham Has Big Crowd at Carlisle

A dispatch from Carlisle Saturday said: Former Governor Beckham spoke to about 300 people here to-day, and he answered Congressman Stanley's Carlisle and Mt. Sterling speeches devoting most of his time to explanation of his attorneyship for the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, citing his position in the railroad question while Governor and while in private life as proof that his employment was free from any influence whatever.

He reviewed the charges of Stanley, and branded them as untrue. He charged Mr. Stanley with bringing up these matters and boasting of his trust investigation to take the people's attention from the liquor question, which Governor Beckham claims the real issue in this campaign, charging that Stanley is the candidate of the liquor trust. He charged that no man in Pennsylvania ever obeyed the Steel trust more than Stanley has the liquor trust in Kentucky.

He attacked Stanley for his position on the Webb bill, and referred to his own record in behalf of the county unit bill in Kentucky. He answered Stanley's charge of infidelity to Goebl by pointing to his (Beckham's) record Governor. He answered charges of Stanley that while Governor he approved three laws favorable to the railroad by referring to the almost unanimous vote of the Assembly for the bills and asking Stanley why in all these years he had not done something to have them repealed if they were bad. He charged that Stanley's statement about these laws and that he was influenced by the railroad, were untrue.

Of Interest to Parcels Post Shippers

Butter, lard and perishable articles such as fish, fresh meats, dressed fowls, vegetables, fruit berries, and articles of a similar nature, which decay quickly when so packed or wrapped as to prevent damage to other mail matter, still be accepted for local delivery, either at the office of mailing or on any rural route starting thereon, when inclosed in an inner cover and a strong outer cover of wood, metal, heavy corrugated paste board or other suitable material and wrapped so that nothing can escape from the package, they will be accepted for mailing to all offices to which, in the ordinary course of mail, they can be sent without spoiling, the above articles can be sent in the first and second zones.

A Man After Roosevelt's Heart

Dr. Thomas Washington, aged 81 years, who resides on his farm eight miles north of Danville, is a man after Roosevelt's own heart. He has been married four times and is the father of forty-four children, thirty-nine of whom are living. Dr. Washington has grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren almost too numerous to count. And the stock is again lingering around the Washington home.

Moonlight School in Grayson

Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, of Richmond, accompanied by Miss Ella Lewis county school superintendent, of Grayson county, was at Frankfort Friday to see Governor McCreary. Miss Lewis has established the moonlight school system in Grayson county and had with her a picture of a ninety-four-year old pupil. At present twenty-five counties in the State have inaugurated the moonlight school system.

Walter Singleton Gets Nice Position

Supt. Garland Singleton has just received news from Louisville that his eldest son, Walter Singleton has just received a regular and permanent appointment in the Louisville postoffice in the parcels post department. Young Singleton passed a rigid civil service examination with a high mark and is in line for rapid advancement as those who know the young man know that he will without doubt "make good."

TOLD HIS WIFE TO FOLLOW
SOON THEN DROPPED DEADEmmanuel Sumi, Prominent and Respected
Swiss Citizen, Dies After Long, Useful Life

After partaking of the Communion with his pastor and his wife, and telling her that he left her would soon follow quickly, Emmanuel Sumi, one of the best known Swiss residents of Lincoln county, walked out of his home, six miles from Stanford, Rural Route No. 3, last Friday evening. Shortly afterwards he was found lying dead near his bee hives.

Rev. J. G. Bosshart, minister of the Gruenheim German Reformed church, of which Mr. Sumi was a member, said that he never knew a more consecrated Christian citizen and a gentleman than Mr. Sumi, and that the manner of his leaving this earthly sphere was an inspiration and a hope to all. He says that Mr. Sumi knew his end was approaching fast; he seemed to see the coming of the Death Angel, and turning to his aged wife, who is also very low and at the point of death at their home he told her that he hoped she would follow him soon.

Mr. Sumi was a native of Gsteig, Switzerland, where he was born July 13, 1838, making him 76 years of age at the time of his death. His wife, who survives is 77 years of age. Two children, Emmanuel Sumi, Jr., who lives in Switzerland, and Mrs. Arnold Zurling, of this county, also survive. In 1885 he came to the United States, and located in Lincoln county, where he has been a successful farmer ever since. Rev. Bosshart conducted funeral services over the remains at the home and at the Gruenheim church Monday, after which the body of this good man was laid in its final resting place.

ALFALFA MAN HERE THURSDAY

Prof. Hendricks to Address Farmers
At Courthouse on the Great Feed

Prof. Hendricks, of the State Experiment Station at Lexington, who has been advising in the organization of Alfalfa Clubs in a number of counties of the state, will be in Stanford on Thursday, this week, April 9th. He will speak at the courthouse. All who are interested in the growth of this great feed crop will find it greatly to their interest to be present.

The I. J. had no notification that Prof. Hendricks planned to come to Stanford at this time, when it editorially expressed the opinion that an Alfalfa Club ought to be formed in Lincoln, last week. A large number of farmers have approved its suggestion, to the editor, and say they want to hear Prof. Hendricks when he comes. Mr. W. D. Hanson, this side of Moreland is an enthusiast on the subject and anxious to join such a club, and will be in to hear Prof. Hendricks, if possible.

NOTED DIVINE CROSSES RIVER

Dr. Gelon H. Rout Served a Term As County Attorney of Lincoln

Dr. Gelon H. Rout, for thirty years pastor of the Versailles Presbyterian church, died at his home in Versailles Friday. Dr. Rout was 82 years of age and death ensued from a complication of diseases.

Graduating from Central University many years ago, Dr. Rout soon after entered the ministry and for many years was one of the most prominent leaders of the church with which he was affiliated. Dr. Rout married a daughter of President Young of Central University. He was a native of Mercer county and moved to Versailles in 1862. Dr. Rout was a first cousin of Col. John M. Rout, of Stanford. In early life he lived in Lincoln and practiced law before entering the ministry. He served a term of county attorney of Lincoln about 1850.

Besides his wife, Dr. Rout is survived by his son, J. R. Rout, a prominent Versailles merchant. The funeral services were held at the Versailles Presbyterian church on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The body was taken to Danville for burial Monday. Col. Rout and other relatives went over from Stanford to attend the interment.

Strange Case in Barren County

One of the strangest cases ever known in Barren county and one that has baffled physicians, is that of Herschel Adwell, a young salesman for the Terry Hughes Company, of Glasgow. Mr. Adwell's nose began bleeding two weeks ago and has never stopped. He is almost blind and his condition was too serious to remove him to Louisville. A specialist was called to Glasgow to see him and after an examination failed to give the family much hope of his recovery.

Lee Maupin, of Madison county, aged sixty, well-known member of the Fox Hunters' Association, is dead from Bright's Disease.

Farmers and others who live at a distance from a drug store should keep in the house a bottle of BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. It may be needed at any time for cuts, wounds, sores, sprains or rheumatism. It is a powerful healing and penetrating remedy. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Shugars' drug store, Stanford, Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard.

WILLIAM Z. CARPENTER DEAD

A Well-Known Citizen of the West
Ends His Life

William Z. Carpenter, one of the best-known citizens of the West End died at Hintonville at the home of Mrs. Rebecca Carpenter on last Friday morning, of diabetes. Although Mr. Carpenter had been in ill health for about six weeks his death was a great shock to his many relatives and friends in this county. He was 66 years old. He leaves three brothers, Dr. James G. Carpenter, of the city, George Carpenter, of near Crab Orchard, D. R. Carpenter, of Nashville, who attended the funeral and three sisters, Mrs. Belle Dalton, of Lexington, Misses Jennie Carpenter and Miss Dove Carpenter, of Georgetown.

After short funeral services at the grave by Rev. D. M. Walker, the remains were laid to rest in the Buffalo Springs Cemetery Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Aged Couple Die Together

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Moore died March 27th within an hour of each other at the home of their daughter, Mrs. W. P. Price, of Cottonburg, Ky. Although Mr. Moore had been partially paralyzed for several years and Mrs. Moore had been very weak for several months yet their death came as a shock to their friends.

Mr. Moore had passed his 79th year, and his wife her 77th. For many years, they made their home in Pulaski county, where they have a host of friends and relatives. Rev. Pike, of Brodhead, conducted the funeral services at Mr. Zion church, Sunday morning March 29th. Hundreds were gathered to do honor to the memory of Mr. and Mrs. Moore, which shows how well-known they were in this and several other counties. Four children, Mrs. Estes, of Clarence, Mrs. Samuels, of Somerset, Mrs. Price, of Cottonburg, and James H. Moore, of this place are left to mourn their loss.

Mrs. Mary Walls Dead

Mrs. Mary Walls died at her home near King's Mountain Saturday after a short illness due to paralysis. She leaves the following children to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother, John Walls of this city, George Walls, Logan Walls, Misses Annie and Eliza Ellen Walls of King's Mountain. The burial occurred at King's Mountain on Sunday afternoon.

Louisville Engagements of Interest

The Courier Journal Sunday announced these engagements which are of interest here, where Mr. Whitte lived in years gone by and has a host of friends, and where also Miss Haldeman is well-known:

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Miller Whitte announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Aubrey Grainger Whitte, to Mr. Joseph Tyler Bond.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Haldeman announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Florence Milton Haldeman, to Mr. Charles Baird Price. The wedding will take place in June.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Eads, of Mount-cello, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sula to Dr. Chas. T. Jones, of Millersburg, Ky. The wedding will take place the latter part of April. Miss Eads has many friends in this county, who wish her every happiness. She is a cousin of Miss Lillie Eads of Hintonville and has often visited her.

Shelby Woman Wins $5,000 Claim

The claim of Miss Kezia Stewart, of Shelbyville to 320 acres of land near Glendive, Mont., on which her brother, C. L. Stewart, had filed prior to his death last fall, has been recognized by the Interior Department, and the property, which is valued at $5,000 descends to her as his lawful heir. A railroad is now building within a few miles of the tract, which is expected greatly to enhance its value.

Lincoln a Boundry in Bank District

Louisville lost out in its fight to secure a regional bank. Louisville and all of Kentucky located west of the western boundaries of Boone, Grant, Scott, Woodford, Jessamine, Garrard, Lincoln, Pulaski and McCreary Counties, are hooked out to St. Louis as their reserve city. While Eastern Kentucky is joined to the Fourth District, of which Cleveland is reserve city, Senator James and Representative Sherlegh, who pulled hard for Louisville are greatly disappointed.

LONDON BANK CLOSED BY
CONTROLLER OF CURRENCYFirst National Bank of London Found
By Bank Examiner to Have
Capital Impaired

London, Ky., April 3.—The worst local financial panic ever known here has resulted from the failure of the First National Bank, of this city, which closed its doors Friday by order of the Controller of Currency. National Bank Examiner W. P. Kincheloe, who has been here for two or three days examining the books of the bank, declines to give out any information as to the condition of the institution or the cause of its suspension of business, and little is known by the public except rumors heard about town.

President W. H. Catching and Cashier, McCalla Fitzgerald say that the suspension was caused by a wholesale withdrawal of deposits resulting from rumors to the effect that the bank was about to become insolvent, and that they hope to be able to resume business within a few days.

Although a good many people have been withdrawing deposits for several days few were found who actually believed the institution would fail until its doors failed to open Friday morning. A large amount of deposits were received Thursday and this was kept up until the closing hour. It is understood that a large amount of money was withdrawn Thursday. A report of the condition of the bank as of March 4, was published in a local paper last week, and it showed the bank in a fairly prosperous condition at that time, although the surplus fund and the deposits have gone down considerably for some months, especially the surplus fund.

The published report shows individual deposits subject to check $263,000; time deposits, $44,000; surplus fund, $9,000; loans and discounts, $281,000. This bank was established in 1888 and has a paid-up capital stock of $50,000. It has always been in a prosperous condition and considered to be one of the strongest, safest banks in Eastern Kentucky, frequently paying from 15 to 20 per cent, and $100 shares selling for $250.

All business in London and Laurel county is seriously affected, and it is freely predicted that numerous bankruptcies will result.

Capital Impaired
Washington, April 3.—National Bank Examiner Kincheloe notified the Controller's office today that the First National Bank, of London, Ky., had an impairment of its capital and would not open today. This was the Controller's only information on the subject.

Senator Brock Appointed Regent

Phil W. Grinstead, representative of a book concern, whose presence on the Board of Regents of the Eastern Kentucky Normal, was criticised in his report of State Inspector and Examiner Sherman Goodpastor, was not reappointed to membership on the board by Gov. McCreary, who last week announced his appointment of Senator H. Brock, of Harlan Republican leader in the upper house, of the General Assembly, to succeed Mr. Grinstead. Jere A. Sullivan, of Richmond, was reappointed. It was Senator Brock, who recently lost a $25,000 libel suit against Col. W. P. Walton, formerly of Stanford, when it was tried in the Laurel circuit court.

Women's Low Shoes

The weatherman reports that we are to have a week of sunshine and a pretty Easter. That, of course, calls for new hat, new dresses and a pair of our new low shoes.

We want you women to see them; we want you to put your foot in them; we want you to see how they fit the instep; how our pumps hug the side of the foot. We are sure we can fit your foot--we believe we can please you. Anyway, we want you to see them. They are all black--gun metal, dull kid, patent leather, vici and satin, in pumps, straps and button oxfords, at $2.50, $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00.

Raising Taxes in Mountain Counties

The State Board of Equalization now in session at Frankfort is sticking some heavy raises on the coal and timber counties of eastern Kentucky, which are in reality just as rich, if not richer, than the counties of the Blue Grass, which have usually borne the heaviest burden of taxation. It is not expected that many Blue Grass counties will be raised this year. Most of them, like Lincoln--where the assessment was raised about $300,000 by the county board--are now paying taxes on a very fair valuation, and the work of the local supervisors leaves no excuse for a further raise by the state board. Some of the mountain counties, which caught heavy increases were: Boyd 10 per cent, on land and lots; Floyd 15 on land and 10 on lots; Harlan, 10 on land and 5 on lots; Lawrence, 10 on land, Magoffin, 15 on land, Martin, 15 on land; Pike, 10 on land and 15 on lots; Wolfe, 10 on land and 5 on lots. Knott, Letcher and Morgan were not raised.

We Appreciate This, Anyway

Desha Breckinridge, the brilliant editor of the Lexington Herald, is another who can see little of good in the work of the recent session of the Kentucky Legislature. He copies our editorial headed, "It Might Have Been Worse" printed in the Interior Journal last week, under an editorial headed, "Possible and Improbable," and then he has this to say:

It may be true, as Mr. Saufley says, in the caption of his editorial, "It might have been worse," but we doubt it. Often a sin of omission is more culpable and may be more disastrous than sin of commission, and the sins of omission by the Legislature which we agree with Mr. Saufley, however, in his brief "that individually the members of the last Legislature," certainly the members of the House "tried harder to do just what the folks back home wanted them to do than the members of the previous Legislature." But the trouble was that they tried individually--there was no team work; too many of them had their ear to the ground to hear the faintest rumble of popular desire in the hope that it would lead to future political preferment. There is one thing certain, however, and that is that a number of the members of the Legislature showed not only a desire to do what the folks back home wanted, but an evidence of capacity for future usefulness, and constructive legislation, and among those who gave the greatest promise was the editor of the Interior Journal. He was one of the hardest working, one of the most conscientious, one of the best prepared members of the Legislature, and in a body in which there was not so much "individuality," largely because of the great preponderance of new members, he would quickly have gained even more influence than he had, and been enabled to render better service than he did.

Building Boom in Columbia

Indications at present point to a boom in the building line in Columbia this year. Among the buildings already in the course of construction and those to be built are the Columbia Baptist church, cost $14,000; Boys' Dormitory at Lindsay-Wilson school, cost $14,000; Mrs. Geo. W. Staples' residence, cost $1,000; Kelsay Bros., store, Annex to Geo. McLean & Co., store, Campbellsville street. The total cost of these buildings and improvements will be in the neighborhood of $40,000. Dwelling houses are in demand, and there's not an empty one in town now. Columbia has experienced a wonderful growth during the past ten years. The good schools and healthy moral condition of the town have proven a drawing card.

Put to Flight by Bees

(Irvine Sun)

Last Tuesday white tricorn Isaacs, last Tuesday while Hardin Isaacs, his three sons, Tommy, Millard Tugle and Sidney Horn Isaacs, were engaged in clearing a piece of land on Buck Creek, near Shade, they cut down a beech, and started to trim it up. It appears that a swarm of bees had previously taken possession of the tree and now objected to the newcomers. After a short argument the men, led by "Uncle" Hardin, made break for the tall timbers, leaving the bees in full possession. Later Constable Charley Brimegar came along and took out a small quantity of honey. During the excitement Tommy Isaacs climbed a tree to escape from the bees.

and Enla Ray, of Lebanon, arrived Saturday for a visit to Mrs. J. Rockwell Smith.

HUSTONVILLE

Miss Belle Bogle will be Mr. Geo. Weatherford's deputy at the post office.

Mack Sutton is at home with his parents after wandering the country for years and found that there is no place on the globe like Hustonville.

Francis Weatherford came home on last Thursday for a short visit to his parents and friends here.

The spring like weather has put the people on a rage about planting their gardens.

H. G. Gover, of Stanford, was here Saturday on urgent business.

Harry Camnitz, of Danville, came over Saturday for a short visit and returned Sunday evening.

Col. Hall Anderson, of McKinney Station, was here Saturday evening on business.

Mr. John Wheat, of Brush Creek, Casey County, had a car of fertilizer hauled through here from Moreland last Saturday.

Thomas Chestnut and Will Robinson of Lancaster, were here Sunday evening ladies. Come again boys; we won't tell where you were. They took supper at the noted Weatherford Hotel.

Charlie Armstrong and Nancy Peyton of California, were united in holy wedlock last Thursday evening at the Christian church by Rev. Frank Good.

We had quite a cold snap Friday for the season.

Quite a number of young people from McKinney, were here Sunday evening driving and some of them had awful good looking horses and buggies, and more than that some pretty girls. Come again boys when the weather is fine.

The H. L. A. Society will have an exchange at Lair's Store next Saturday. The proceeds will go toward paying for the new electric lights, that they are going to have put in at once.

Everybody is trying to garden some this week.

There was no preaching at the Baptist church Sunday morning, owing to the illness of the pastor.

Uncle Walker Rott, of Peyton's Well was here Monday morning looking well for a man of his age.

Carroll B. Reid came in Sunday from Louisville to spend a few days with the homefolks.

Ben Compton, of Milledgeville, the big Q. & C., railroad agent at Moreland, was here Monday morning and had Adams Bros., to take his measure for a new suit of clothes.

There will be no preaching at the Christian church next Sunday morning as the pastor will attend the dedication of the new church at Danville. Usual evening service at 7 o'clock P. M.

Quite a number from here will attend the dedication at Danville on Easter.

Will Dunn went to Danville Friday with a wagon load of turnip greens, which sold. He has lots more of them yet.

Richard Downey, of the Rolling Fork, was here Monday morning on business.

G. C. Riffe and A. J. Adams motored to Boyle county Monday evening on a fishing trip.

S. A. Walker and family went to Lancaster Monday evening.

The Weatherford store is installing some new glass counters, which adds much to the looks of everything in the dry goods department.

Some one threw a rock through the glass door of the store of W. H. Lair Sunday night. Whether it was an accident or not is hard to tell. Some think that it must have been robbers, but anyway it was a very ugly piece of work on the part of the one that did it. There is a sharp lookout for the guilty party and if caught will be dealt with heavily. Such is a very cowardly deed and if accidentally done why not come up like a man and own up to same as it would look a great deal better than to keep mum.

G. M. Givens' eye is a great deal better and will be in fine shape soon.

Jas. Cash, of Turnersville, was in town Monday on business.

Dr. Childress set his fruit trees out Monday.

John H. Chambers is here cleaning out eideris without taking the water out.

IMPORTANT TO ALL WOMEN

READERS OF THIS PAPER

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney troubles, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer a great deal with pain in the back, bearing down feelings, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

A good kidney medicine, possessing real healing and curative value, should be a blessing to thousands of nervous, over-worked women.

Many sent for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy will do for them. Every reader of this paper, who has not already tried it, by enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at all drug stores.

BUY an International Harvester engine, take care of it as any machine should be cared for and a dozen years or more from now it will still be working for you.
It will save you and your family endless hours of hard labor in pumping, sawing, grinding, spraying, running separator, etc.
Buy an I.H.C. engine. They last longer, burn less fuel, are simpler, and give you most power. Here are a few of the reasons: Offset cylinder heads, large valves, accurately ground piston and rings, heavy drop forged crank shafts and connecting rods, etc. Best material and construction mean the best engine. I.H.C. engines are built in all styles, and in all sizes from 1 to 50 H.P. They operate on low and high grade fuels.
Not every local dealer handles I.H.C. engines. The one who does is a good man to know. If you do not know who he is, we will tell you when you write us for catalogues.

Winners on the Track and In the Show Ring Against the Best in the Land

The only real proof of the individuality and soundness of the stallion is the show ring. It gives Melrose Farm great pleasure to again offer the services of the well-known horses, Thistle Down, winning race record 2:09 1-4 on the grand circuit and winner of the champion roadster stallion class at the Kentucky State Fair, 1912, and Chimewood, 2:10 1-4, considered by many the handiest trotting stallion in the world, winner of the trotting bred stallion class at the Kentucky State Fair, 1913.

Baldy McGregor 2:06 3-4, who recently sold for $40,000.00 in Europe and Lassie Mc Gregor, who recently sold for $10,000.00 in this country, are a brother and sister of Thistle Down, 2:09 1-4, who is himself the sire of Zulu 2:20 1-4 and Madona Down 2:26 3-4, and who has a large number of colts in training in the hands of Kentucky's famous trainer, Ben Kennedy, and it is confidently expected that a number will race to fast records this year.

Chimewood has the distinction of being more sought after by Government Commission than any stallion in America, and they offered the largest price, $25,000.00 each, they offered for any stallion, which was refused.

TERMS: Thistle Down, $25.00 to insure; Chimewood, $25.00, to insure. Mares kept on grass at owner's risk.

Milton Leavers, of Carpenter's Creek near Hustonville, sold to J. J. Allen, of Hustonville, five head of 112-pound hogs at seven and a half cents per pound. He also sold to Ed Buchanan of Hustonville, five head of 112-pound hogs at seven and a half cents.

From all reports, we have been able to gather, there are very few butcher cattle on feed in Kentucky at the present time, says the Bourbon Stock Journal. Probably the usual number of heavy steers in Central Kentucky, and the distillery cattle are at least 10 per cent short of last season. This seems to indicate higher prices for cattle.

The sale of live stock held by Buckler & Thompson at Loretto, was largely attended, and stock of all kinds sold well. Five pairs of mules brought from $320 to $395 per pair; 16 two-year-old mules brought an average of $111.50 per head; 9 yearling horse mules brought $55.50 per head and 15 head of horses sold at from $40 to $150.

Cows brought from $40 to $65.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional treatment. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running ear, or it may become deaf, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the tube is restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; since causes of deafness are caused by catarrhs, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface, we will give the HUNDRED DOLLARS for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by HALL'S CATARRH CURE. Read for cures late free.

Underwood Defeats Hobson

Incomplete returns from the Alabama senatorial primary indicate that Oscar W. Underwood has a substantial lead over Richmond P. Hobson for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator. The Underwood headquarters claimed a majority of 30,000 at midnight, while Hobson issued no statement.

Burglar a Good Judge of Tobacco

Walter L. Jones, one of the most popular and "bustling" traveling men who ever went out of Stanford, is being congratulated on all sides upon the popularity of the Red-J tobacco that he sells. Proof of its merit and favor with the people was amply demonstrated in the recent burglary of the Stanford postoffice when the thief or thieves stopped long enough in their operations upon the cash drawer to break open a package of Red-J tobacco, which was addressed to Mr. Jones, and to appropriate a considerable quantity, showing that the midnight visit to Uncle Sam's local office was undoubtedly a gentleman of as discriminating taste in his tobacco as he is a financier void of scruples. Mr. Jones says that he is satisfied that the burglar is a good judge of tobacco, anyway, whether or not he's good any other way.

Kentucky Horses Sell High in East

That Kentucky bred saddle horses are much in demand on the New York market was made evident when J. C. Cook's black gelding, The Butler, was sold at public auction for $2,000. The purchaser was A. H. Cordean, a wealthy horse fancier of New York City.

The price was one of the highest ever paid at public auction in New York for a Kentucky saddle horse. Thomas W. Murphy, trotting horse driver, acted as bidder for Mr. Cordean, and he also bought the chestnut gelding Eagle bird for $1,000.

SILAS SHELBURNE,

TOBACCO FERTILIZERS

LEXINGTON, KY.

We are prepared to furnish everyone in the Burley Tobacco section with our Fertilizer, made especially for Burley Tobacco, by the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co., reliable business men, and the largest manufacturers of fertilizer in the world. Our fertilizer contains more potash than any other for the money, which is most needed for tobacco crop; don't use a fertilizer that you know nothing about, as it may do your crop more harm than good, having in it too much ammonia and Phosphoric Acid, which will make your crop wild, red, and without finish. We refer to H. C. Curtis, State Chemist, who advised the mixture for Burley Tobacco, or to anyone who used it last season.

Mr. B. F. Scherffus, Tobacco Expert of the United States Agricultural Department, writes: "I tried your fertilizer on an acre of tobacco last year, securing an average yield of 1,640 lbs., which I consider fair, taking into account that the tobacco was transplanted late, and the season was too dry for the fertilizer to get in full action. I am glad to state that I think well of your fertilizer, as it is about, in my opinion, the proper formula for Burley Tobacco."

J. W. Duncan, of Jessamine county, made 1,600 lbs. per acre which he sold at an average of $17.

Mr. N. H. Witherspoon, a banker at Winchester, used it on his tobacco crop, and got a fine yield, and good prices. Since then he and W. R. Spar have bought 22 tons for their wheat crop.

W. R. Spar, Cashier of Bank at Winchester, used it on 30 acres, mostly timothy sod, made 1,621 lbs. to the acre, which sold for an average of $15.25. He only used 200 lbs. to the acre, drilling it in the row.

Z. C. Moore on 17 acres made 1,600 lbs., and made an average of $15.25. He used 200 lbs. to the acre, part of it drilled in the row, and the other part beside the row after the crop was planted.

W. C. Wiggington, of Scott county, says he made 250 lbs. more per acre where he used the fertilizer, and it stood the drought much better than the other. Says it is the only fertilizer he would be willing to recommend to his friends.

J. W. Montjoy, of Montgomery county, writes us: "I used 350 lbs. to the acre broadcast, and raised a nice crop on very ordinary land. Have used several kinds, but yours is the best, as it gives tobacco a nicer finish and better color than anything I have ever tried, and makes it ten days earlier."

King Todd, of Montgomery county, averaged $14; his neighbor in land just over the fence averaged $2 and made one-fourth less tobacco to the acre.

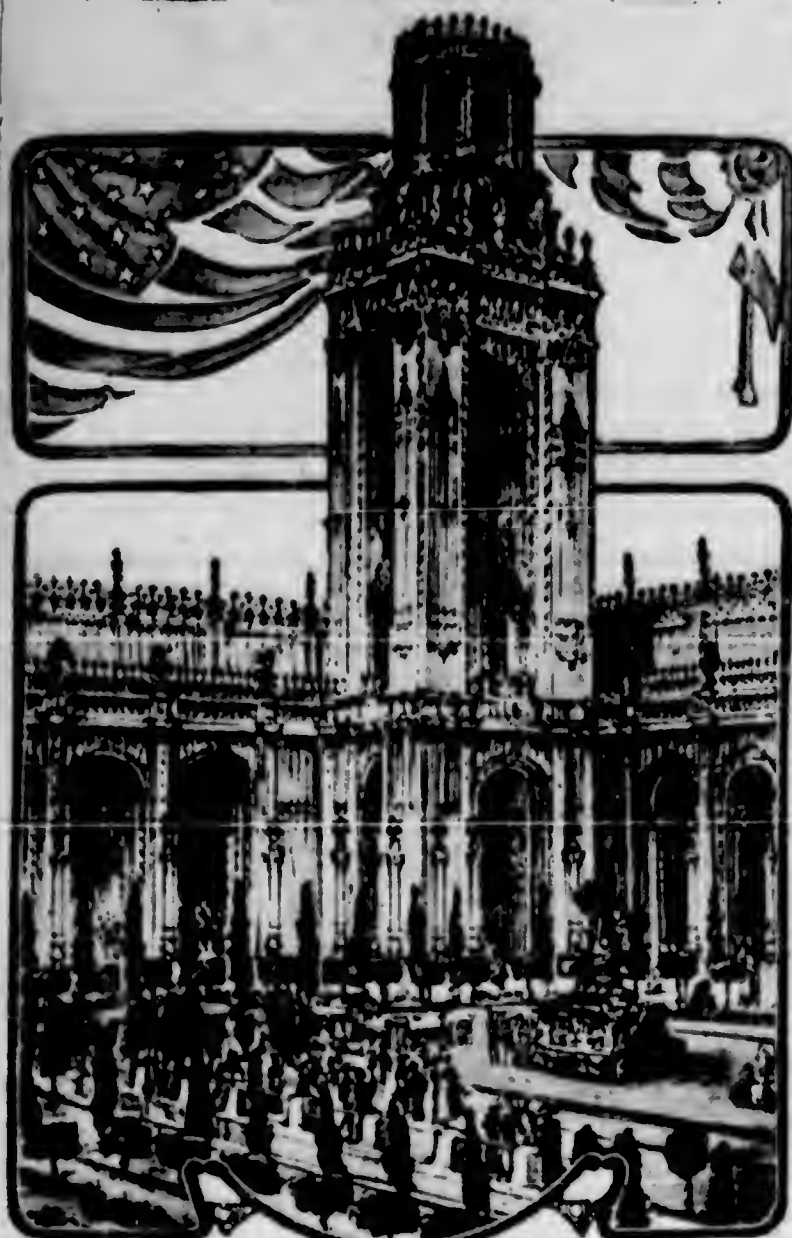

A buyer on the Mt. Sterling market says he could walk over the warehouse floor and tell the crops that used our fertilizer by the color and texture of the tobacco.

We advise the use of 50 lbs. to the two square yards on your plant beds, also on your gardens, if you want early vegetables. As to the best methods of using this fertilizer on your tobacco land, will say that we think it best to sow (four or five hundred lbs.), broadcast, and cut it in with a disc harrow, or drill it in with a wheat or fertilizer drill, but if you do not wish to use so much you can drill in the row before planting and on both sides of the row after planting, in this case 250 lbs., would be sufficient to make a good crop. We are confident it will make you an earlier and brighter crop. Parties who used it on a few rows across the field report that the difference could be seen a long way off.

Our fertilizers, which were made by the advice of Mr. Curtis, State Chemist for Burley Tobacco are composed of 2 per cent. Ammonia, 5 per cent. Phosphoric Acid, and 10 per cent. Potash; more Potash than can be bought in any other fertilizer for the money, which is $31 per ton, cash. Write or phone us at any time.

STOP CATARR

PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION,
SAN FRANCISCO, 1915.

Copyright, 1914, by Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

A new tower in the Festive or East Court. At night the East Court, with its pavements of gold, its great banks of flowers, and its lofty palms, will be flooded with light. Musical masterpieces of the world will be rendered by the chimes in the towers. Great saengerfests and choral festivals will assemble upon the floors of the court. In the Festive Court, the visitor will behold a vision surpassing the richest dreams of Oriental or Moorish architecture. The floors of this court will be in tessellated pavements of gold in the center of the court will be great groups of sculpture with fauns, dancing symphs and satyrs. There will be great fountains upon which magic lights will play at night and at night this mystic court, as all others, will be flooded by a glow of indirect light which will resemble a bright moonlight. At the south end of the court will be a huge tower 270 feet in height in which will be a great organ with solo organs in smaller towers of the court. The Festive Court will be a court of music, of acting, and symphonic dancing. Here will assemble many of the great pageants of Oriental nations that will take part during the exposition; here too will come many of the processions from the amusement court, which will be designed to draw visitors from the more serious phases of the exposition.

HALE, HEARTY AND HAPPY AT 95
"Uncle Billy" Perrin, Ex-Lincolnite,
Described in Missouri Paper

The St. Joe, Mo., Gazette in a recent issue contained a dispatch from Dearborn, Mo., which was a sketch of "Uncle Billy" Perrin, who was born in Lincoln county, and is a brother-in-law of Mrs. S. J. Emory, Sr., of Stanford, and has many other relatives in this section. The story of Mr. Perrin is very interesting and read as follows:

Dearborn, Mo., Feb. 14.—There is one big south window in Dearborn that is always cheery and sunshiny whatever the weather outside may be. There is a window shelf full of bright blooming plants and beside this sits "Uncle Billy" Perrin, the man who has more friends than any one in this part of the state. William F. Perrin, who is nearly 95 years old, sits day after day in his big padded rocker, smoking his much stained old pipe and reading the newspapers or entertaining his friends. Sometimes with a power lying beside him. He will grow reminiscent and in his slight quivering voice, pausing often in the midst of a sentence for several minutes, he will talk about his younger days.

"I took the St. Joseph Gazette, I reckon it was fifty years ago when I first subscribed. Jim Burns and Cal owned it then. Later Mont Cochran had it. I'm going to take it all the rest of my life."

Was Born in Kentucky

Perrin was born near Walnut Flat in Lincoln county, Ky., Sept. 24, 1819, in a tiny old one and a half story brick house. A creek ran nearby and an old-fashioned mill wheel churned the water into foam each day. It was here that "Uncle Billy" spent the greater part of his time, playing in the water.

"We boys," said the old man, "used to tie boards to our feet and skate in the winter time. I walked nearly three miles to school, a little log affair, with a log cut out on one side for fuel. There were no window panes. We had a split log for a seat. We had the rule of three and four geography and spelling every day. There were no Sunday schools in those days, but we had singing school once a week at the little church, where young folks from the whole countryside gathered to sing and have a good time."

Many a Time

"Many a time," went on Uncle Billy, as he fumbled for his pipe. "Many a time I've gone to school without a shoe on my foot. In fact I never owned a pair of shoes of a pair of trousers until I was 17 years old. I wore a linen daisy which had been made at home. We raised the flax and I helped sketch and handle it so my mother could spin and weave it. All the children dressed the same way then."

Has His Little Joke

"When was I married?" This is a question Perrin loves to answer. "First, when I was 15 and my wife was 19 years old," he will say and then in some stranger is listening and expresses surprise or consternation at such a youthful marriage. Uncle Billy chuckles softly, well pleased with himself and says: "You see, it was in a play that Mary Catherine Shanks and I were married the first time, then we were engaged for six years after that before we really married. We had nine children, three girls and one boy of whom are still living. Grandchildren? Why, Birdie," he turned to his daughter, Miss Birdie Perrin, with whom he lives, "there are twenty-six grandchildren, aren't there? And I've got twenty-two great-grandchildren."

Mrs. Perrin died in 1873. Although born in Kentucky, Perrin has spent most of his life in and near Camden Point, Mo., most of the time as a farmer, though for a few years before he married he clerked in his father's store in Camden Point. He helped three times to build Camden Point college, and during the war he and his brother, Symond Perrin, spent $1,500 to hold the institution for the Christian church. For the last six years he has lived in Dearborn, renting his farm.

As a young man, Uncle Billy was strong and rugged and even now he does not complain of an ache or pain. He is slightly deaf and sometimes he says his eyes grow tired so he cannot read much for days at a time. He attributes his long life to regular habits. He goes by the clock in eating and sleeping and resting. He drinks plenty of water, eats eggs the year around, likes most vegetables, and thinks sausage the best of meats. He makes his breakfast on grapes or oatmeal and one cup of coffee. Cayenne pepper is the one thing he must have every meal.

Always Uses Same Razor

Uncle Billy shaves himself with a 25 cent razor which he bought in Kentucky when he first began to shave.

He is fond of company especially children and young people, and likes to know everything that is going on. Whenever the telephone rings, he makes Mrs. Perrin tell him who it was and what was said. He is always interested in new things. From a mantle near his chair hangs a toy airship and the table is strewn with the latest ideas in mechanical toys, which he loves to look at. He loves to ride in an automobile and often wishes he had one. The gentle, cheery faced old man, loved by all who know him, seems always contented and happy, and every evening those who pass his home can hear the sweet tremulous notes of some old hymn and they know that "Uncle Billy" is his usual happy self.

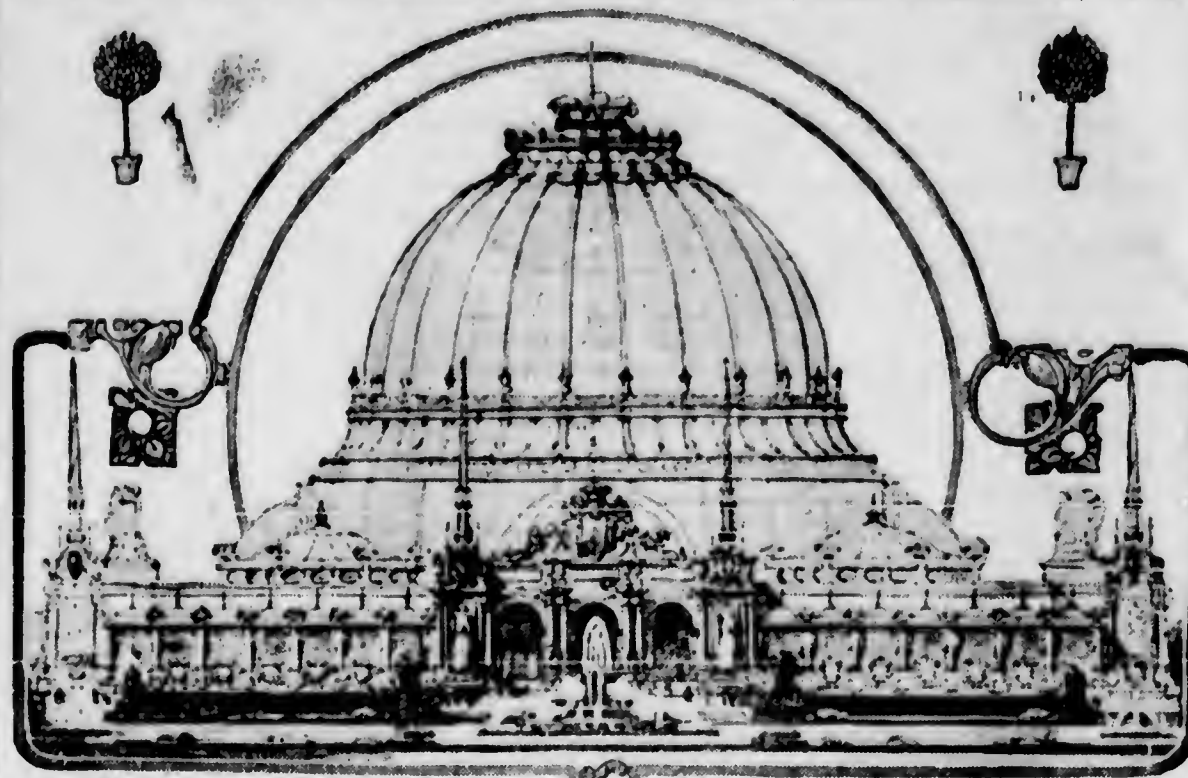

GAME FIGHT AGAINST DEATH

John C. Mayo Has Spent $50,000 in Grim Battle With Destroyer

Waging a battle for his life that is typical of his career John C. Mayo, wealthy mine and lumber operator of Kentucky, is spending a fortune in Cincinnati in his effort to retain his health. In his struggle to stay the hand of death Mr. Mayo has called to his aid a special train, special railroad cars, noted physicians from the special telephone system, special anti-air and Cincinnati, special nurses, a mold and an entire floor of the Jewish Hospital.

The spectacular and sudden rise from a mountain school teacher to a man of great wealth within twenty-

The building will be 630x293 feet and will be one of the most notable structures of the kind ever built, being composed almost entirely of glass, set in the west end of the south garden, opposite the Palace of Education, its glittering dome, 165 feet high, will be seen as one of the striking features by those who enter the exposition from the tropical south garden.

SECTION of the great central court, the Court of the Sun and Stars, designed by Messrs. McKim, Mead and White. This court, approximately 700x900 feet, will divide the main rectangle of exposition buildings from north to south. Upon the east of the court figures—elephants, camels, Arab warriors—symbolical of the Orient will surmount a huge arch, the Arch of the Rising Sun, larger than the Arc de Triomphe; upon the west of the court the story of the setting sun will be depicted; surmounting the arch upon the west prairie schooners and figures of pioneers who pushed across the western plains will be shown.

five years Mr. Mayo amassed a fortune estimated by many at $300,000.00 is being equaled by his magnificent fight for life.

Mr. Mayo has been in Cincinnati since March 1 receiving treatment for Bright's disease at the Jewish Hospital. In the course of the month that he has been a patient at the hospital it is estimated that he has spent not less than $50,000 to secure every possible advantage against the approach of death, which eminent physicians declared must be the inevitable result of his affliction.

In an effort to prolong his days physicians hurried him to Cincinnati from his home in Paintsville, Ky. Here he was placed in charge of Dr. K. K. Wilkins, Dr. Alfred Friedlander and Dr. Oliver P. Holt. A special train was used to make railroad connections from Paintsville, and then a special car was pressed into service. It was made plain by members of the family that no expense must be spared in this contest with death. Riches are powerless to purchase life and health, so it has been said by philosophers, but it has remained for Mr. Mayo to demonstrate that the approach of death may be retarded and the ravages of disease allayed by the skillful application, as it were, of millions of gold.

Since the arrival of Mr. Mayo at the Jewish Hospital a new vista of splendor has been opened for employees and visitors of that institution. Mrs. Mayo, who has been at her husband's bedside constantly, made the arrangements. She has taken almost an entire pavilion at the hospital, comprising an entire floor. These rooms are used for the comfort of Mr. Mayo's friends and business associates, who visit him from day to day. His son and daughter are on hand whenever it is possible for them to leave their studies or when the condition of their parent warrants hurried trips to Cincinnati. Another room is used for consultation of the physicians, while there are still others used as sleeping quarters by Dr. Wilkins, who remains at the hospital almost every night, and other physicians. Four trained nurses are in constant attendance and special telephones have been installed for the convenience of those who are the Mayo guests.

No small expense was attached to the two trips of Dr. Slade and Dr. Biggs, of New York, specialists, who were called in consultation by the attending physicians. Special automobiles are at the disposal of the specialists and visitors.

The telephone goes hand in hand with good roads.

The telephone overcomes many of the obstacles of bad roads and makes it possible for the farmer and other rural residents to transact business in the city and with neighbors when the roads are impassable.

Progressive farmers are insisting upon good roads and telephones. These two agencies of modern civilization are doing more than all others toward eliminating the isolation of country life. You can have a telephone in your home at very small cost. Send a postal for our free booklet giving complete information.

WILL EXHIBIT STOCK IN CUBA

J. F. Cook, Formerly of Lincoln Ships Five Animals From Lexington

Last week's Saddle Horse Chronicle, published at Lexington, had the following about a former Lincoln county man, Jesse F. Cook, who has made a great success in the horse, mule and jack business in Lexington.

One of the most significant and unusual adventures in the history of saddle horse affairs is the excursion just now under way by J. F. Cook, of Lexington, with a number of car loads of live stock which he is sending to Cuba. Mr. Cook has been one of the most successful dealers in live stock in the whole country. Starting originally in the jack and mule business, he quickly rose to the highest achievements as an exhibitor of these animals, and in breeding champions which he was able to sell at very remunerative prices in all parts of the country.

He has gradually branched out into other lines and has achieved the same success as a breeder, trainer, dealer and exhibitor of saddle horses as at tended his earlier efforts with mammoth Kentucky jacks, in which department he still reigns.

One of the incidents of his trade has been the gradual development of a very extensive export business, and particularly in this true with regard to Cuba. It is probably well within the mark to say that Mr. Cook has sold more high-class, pure-bred live stock in Cuba than all other dealers and exporters combined, consequently it is not a matter of surprise to learn that when announcement was made of a Cuban National Live Stock Exposition, to be held in the city of Havana, that it should be quickly recognized by Mr. Cook and that he should be both sufficiently progressive and mindful of his own interests to realize that this was an unprecedented opportunity for extraordinary benefits.

Three car loads of live stock will be shipped tomorrow from Lexington by Mr. Cook, and reaching New Orleans on Saturday they will be transported after a day or two rest via the Excelsior scheduled to steam from the Crescent City on April 8. Included in the lot are twelve saddle stallions, twelve mares and geldings, saddle bred, six mammoth Kentucky jacks, and two Jennets, six Jersey bulls from the famous Elmendorf herd, and twenty Berkshire hogs from the same celebrated establishment. There will be also twenty Duroc Jerseys, five boars, by the great five thousand dollar Defender, thirty Southdown sheep and five Hampshire.

That Mr. Cook has realized the advantage of this live stock exposition, is well disclosed by the entries that he has made for the various classes. In the first event, being for walk trot stallions he has named six horses, which include Kentucky Peacock, King Edward VII., Preston Rex 5471, Jim Martin 5184, Bourbon Chester 4389, and Fayette Prince. In the walk trot mare class he has named seven, these including Fair Ace Missie, Fair Ace Wanda, Lula Preston, Kentucky Belle, May Kendrick, Alice Roosevelt, and Diana C. Four horses have been named for the galloped stallion class, and five for the galloped mare class.

A Tale With a Strong Moral

Henry J. Aufgang, was a prosperous farmer. He saved money and got to be well off.

He bought his stuff at the store in town and so did his neighbors. Almost every day Henry drove to the store with a load of something which he sold and then "visited around" with his neighbors in town and his brother farmers who, like himself, drove in often.

The women folks came sometimes and it was nice and sociable and everybody grew to know everybody else. Henry J. Aufgang had a telephone in his house and a rural free delivery carrier brought him a daily paper from the Big City every day. He could call up the doctor in town if his folks took sick or he could ask the storekeeper the price of eggs over the phone and take in some to sell if the price was right.

One day he got a catalogue from a "mail order house" and read what it said about saving money by buying of the big concern (which was many stories high according to the picture on the cover of the catalogue and employed thousands and thousands of people.)

Henry thought as he read the catalogue, "Business is business," he said and sent in an order for a stove—not to his friend, the storekeeper in the town.

who in the past trusted him and credited him when he had hard up, but the man he had never seen—the man who ran the mail order house in the Big City.

"Business is business," Henry got his stove. One of the legs was loose—wouldn't fit. His friend the blacksmith in town fixed it. He ordered his clothes and his hats and his shoes and his wagons and his furniture and his carpets and his crockery and his boots and shoes and rubber boots from the mail order house.

"Business is business," Many of his neighbors followed his example. "Business is business," Henry had been so busy getting in the crop and sending orders to the mail order house that he forgot all about going to town for some months.

One day he thought he would take in some dressed poultry and fresh eggs and visit round.

He called up the storekeeper to find the price of his stuff.

Central said "line disconnected" and Henry wondered.

Finally he went out and hitched up. Went to town; didn't seem to be much doing there.

Drove to the store—it was closed! Went over to the furniture store—closed, too. So was the drug store; also the hardware store and the hotel and restaurant didn't look prosperous.

"Nobody makes the town now," said the hotel man to Henry. "Business too town going back—stores all closed."

Henry sought his friend, the blacksmith yes, he was doing business at the old stand.

"Nothin'" said the blacksmith, "except a lot of crazy people around here have taken the notion that they don't need any town and are sending all their money away to millionaires who run the catalogue houses. Course they've got to come to me and I'm here yet just because the catalogue fellows haven't devised ways and means for shoeing horses by mail. But when they do I'll have to fly too."

Henry was astounded. "Why, I'd no idea," he commenced.

"Course you hadn't," rejoined the blacksmith. "Course you hadn't, you hadn't any idea. You don't think. Well you had better do so now. Where are you going to sell your butter and eggs? Can you sell 'em to the mail order houses? You can get rid of your wheat at the elevator, but you won't have any fun any more in this town visiting with your neighbors 'cause there isn't any town and the people you used to know have all gone away to some place where they can make a living."

"Pretty soon the town will be all gone. Then your good roads will be gone, too. And you can't bring your tractor order jewelry and castings to town to be repaired. If your mail order shoes don't fit you'll just naturally have to squeeze your feet and hear it. If your mail order clothes which you buy sight unseen aren't what you want, what are you going to do about it?"

The blacksmith paused. It was a long speech for him and it had got to Aufgang.

"Business is business," finally said Henry.

"Yes foolishness is foolishness," answered his friend. "You may think it's business to kill off your town, but I don't. Think it over, Henry, think it over."

Henry did "think it over" as he drove slowly homeward with the dressed poultry and eggs which he had intended to sell to his friend, the storekeeper.

As he neared the house his lips moved. "Business is business," he said, "and self-preservation is nature's first law. We've got to preserve our town and our neighborhood and our good roads. That's business."

The next day he called a meeting of his brother farmers for miles around and they all came.

After the meeting Henry invited them all to stay to supper and after supper there was a big bonfire out in Aufgang's yard near the well.

In that bonfire were consumed all the mail order catalogues in the country!

Moral—Don't wait for it to get too bad.

Agent For Lincoln County

Honor to Whom Honor

(Louisville Times)

In signing the McDyer-Bosworth measure and House bill No. 297, the Governor has assured to every county in Kentucky the aid of the State in the building of its roads, to be supplemented in time by that of the Federal Government and to townships and counties the use of the labor of county prisoners in the actual construction and maintenance of roads and other public works. As the Governor had already signed the bill declaring roads to be the public works of the State, it is not improbable that the use of convict labor will also be available without the delay of submitting the constitutional amendment to the people in 1915. That question, however, it is for the courts to decide.

Strong pressure was brought to bear on the Governor to prevent his signing the first two bills by men who look only to prevent conditions and selfish considerations. In resisting it the Governor has insured to Kentucky the best system of roads of any State in the south.

In the first session of his administration there was created a bureau of roads. The machinery was admirable in itself.

In the final session of his administration the Governor has aided in supplying the motive power. Not only in Kentucky to have State and Federal aid in the building of her roads, but under the Huff law county seat plan every county is to receive equal consideration. The money spent for roads is no longer to be spent haphazard. The standard of road construction of whatever material is to be fixed. The provision for maintenance is to be uniform. Not until this standard and provision have been complied with is State and Federal aid to be extended. Kentucky has at last substituted action for words in the building of good roads.

In signing these measures the Governor has done Kentucky a service that more than even the score between them.

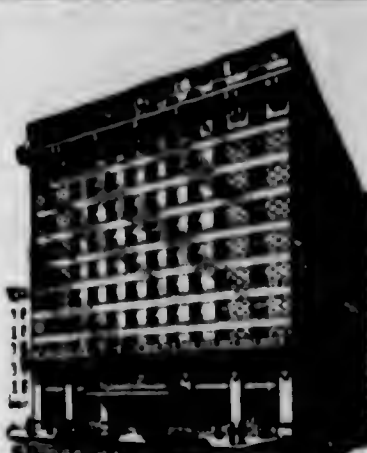

But the credit is not wholly the Governor's. But for Claude B. Terrell, the McDyer-Bosworth bill would never have passed the House. The fight made for it in the Senate by Lieut. Gov. McDemmon and Senator Thurfaker prevented its defeat in that body. In both houses the Louisville delegation stood as a man by their antielection pledge to work and vote for good roads. To Louisville, on which the tax burden falls heaviest, the citizens of the State that are without good roads owe not the least of their debt of gratitude for legislation that will transform eighty-nine pauper into eighty-nine prosperous counties.

Parcel Post Development

The "farm products post" which Postmaster General Burleson has established in the first and second parcel post zones, should have a stimulating effect on the shipment of farm products by mail.

Under the new regulations boxes and crates of eggs, butter, vegetables and dressed poultry will be carried outside the mail bags and delivered to city consumers. The weight limits on such packages are from twenty to fifty pounds. Packages under twenty pounds will be carried in mail bags as heretofore. The Post Office Department describes the new arrangement as a "boost to truckers." It should provide also something of a boost to consumers.

As a medium for bringing the producer and consumer in closer touch this extension of the parcel post should meet with larger public favor. By utilizing the mails the farmer can cut out much of the expense of going to market. By seeking customers in the city he can secure better prices than he can get from the country storekeeper or from such other buyers as may be available. The consumer at the same time should be able to save some money for himself, inasmuch as the parcel post method eliminates the middleman and the several profits which are exacted where a product is subjected to repeated handling.

One of the needs of the whole country is more direct marketing. This is possible through the parcel post. City customers will not be lacking when the farmer lets the city people know what he has to sell. This he can do at slight expense by newspaper advertising. The development of the "farm products post," if it shall develop as success hopes, will be of all-round benefit.

MORE COMPANIES QUIT STATE

On Account of Glenn Bill—Conference To Be Held in Louisville

Acting through their Western branches at Chicago the Continental Insurance Company, the Fidelity-Phoenix Insurance Company and the Fidelity Underwriters have just suspended all of their Kentucky recording agencies. These companies among the largest in the fire insurance field, have been counted upon by the sponsors of the Glenn bill to keep the Kentucky situation from becoming critical, due to the withdrawal of the other companies, and their unexpected actions are certain to add fuel to the controversy now raging between the business interests of the state and those responsible for the new law.

The latest withdrawal from the state was directly inspired by the demand made on them by Chairman Lattom, of the State Insurance Board, that they file copies of details, showing the make-up of all rates for sprinkler leakage; this demand being based on a section of the law which provides "that the State Insurance Board shall prescribe rules for the keeping of proper records by all companies, bureaus and boards dealing with the application of published schedules, so that the accuracy of the application, in any individual case, can be ascertained at any time by the said board."

John W. Harr, president of a trust company in Louisville, was in Washington last week, and notified Representative Cantrell, of Kentucky, that a conference of business men and bankers would take place in Louisville two weeks hence, with a view to adjusting the fire insurance situation in that state with representatives of fire insurance companies which have withdrawn from Kentucky on account of recent legislation. He suggested to Mr. Cantrell that the proposition for a Federal investigation which has been urged by not a few of the business men, be not acted upon until after this business conference takes place, because it is possible that an amicable arrangement may be effected with the insurance companies.

This week, as has already been announced, Representative Green and State Senator Glenn, joint authors of the new insurance law, together with members of the State Rating Board, are to have a conference with Mr. Cantrell, to discuss the initiating of a Federal investigation with the ultimate end in view of forcing the insurance companies to do business in Kentucky.

Will Democrats Condone Treachery?

In introducing Gov. Beckham at Elizabethtown, a few weeks ago, Col. Harry Sammers said:

We talk of the crime of 1876, when the electoral vote of three states were stolen from the democratic party, but this was done under the forms of law. Both political parties agreed to the Electoral Commission, but the crime of the winter of 1888 at Frankfort was not committed under the form of law but in direct violation of the plain statutes of the state. It was a felony, an act which the Democratic party was robbed of a United States Senator. It was grand larceny. This crime was committed against the democratic party for it is neither explanation or palliation. I. C. W. Beckham was the victim of that crime. There is but one way to redress a wrong and that is to right it. There is but one way to blot out the stain upon our democracy by robbing it of a United States Senator and that is to elect the man who was the victim of treachery and corruption. The only way that the damned spot can be wiped out is by electing Beckham to the Senate. To defeat him would be to condone the crime which robbed the democratic party of his services.

"I suffered with rheumatism for two years and could not get my right hand, my mouth for that length of time," writes I. C. W. Beckham, Madison, La. For sale by all dealers.

Mr. Stanley and President Wilson

It is needless to say that President Wilson and Mr. Stanley are different in many ways, but here is one that at the present time is very pertinent: Mr. Stanley voted against the Webb bill, which prevents shipment of liquor into dry territory, because, so he says, he thought it unconstitutional. President Wilson has signed the Kenyon bill, whereby the Washington restricted districts have been legislated out of existence, yet Attorney General McReynolds is said to have advised President Wilson to veto the measure on the grounds that it was unconstitutional. But the President signed it and said he would leave the question of its constitutionality to be determined by the courts. Some difference between the President and Mr. Stanley, eh? The President and Mr. Beckham think and act alike on these lines.—Winchester Sun.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Of Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years' Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mr. Alry, N. C.—Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town, says: "I suffered for five years with womanly troubles, stomach troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell."

I tried most every kind of medicine but none did me any good. I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together.

My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it.

Do you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble such as headache, backache, sideache, sleeplessness, and that everlasting tired feeling?

If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you just as it has a million other women in the past half century. Begin taking Cardui today. You won't regret it. All druggists.

WOMEN FROM 45 to 55 TESTIFY

To the Merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during Change of Life.

Westbrook, Me.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and had pains in my back and side and was so weak I could hardly do my housework. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a lot of good. I will recommend your medicine to my friends and give you permission to publish my testimonial."

—Mrs. LAWRENCE MARTIN, 12 King St., Westbrook, Maine.

Manston, Wis.—"At the Change of Life I suffered with pains in my back and loins until I could not stand. I also had night sweats so that the sheets would be wet. After taking one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began to improve and I continued its use for six months. The pains left me, the night sweats and hot flashes grew less, and in one year I was a different woman. I know I have to thank you for my continued good health ever since."

—Mrs. M. J. BROWNELL, Manston, Wis.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled in such cases. If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

TO ERADICATE HOG CHOLERA

State Experiment Station Has Done Big Work in Kentucky with Serum

In the past three years the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station has been conducting a campaign to control the contagious disease of hogs known as hog cholera by means of anti-hog cholera serum. From year to year large percentages of the animals treated have been saved by this administration of serum. In the year 1912 there was a loss of 8 per cent of all hogs treated, including infected herds and those on infected premises.

Hog cholera serum is not a curative agent, although about 50 per cent of the hogs treated in the very early stages of the disease have been saved. The Experiment Station does not advise the Serum Simultaneous treatment where there is infection on the farm of neighboring farms, but if there is an outbreak, it is easily carried in many ways. After the disease appears the only means of preventing it is by the use of the serum.

The following points suggest the proper precautions: Note the condition and health of your neighbors' hogs. Cholera on a neighboring farm is easily carried to your farm on the shoes of men and animals. Look your hogs over daily so that sick hogs may be promptly discovered.

If you find any hogs off feed or sick, separate them immediately and try a change of feed, as this will sometimes correct the trouble; especially is this true in swill feed hogs.

If the disease seems to spread in the herd, have them treated immediately with serum from the Experiment Station. The prompt administration of serum is essential to the protection of the remainder of the herd.

Hog cholera kills thousands of hogs each year where loss by other disease is very small in comparison. Provide clean quarters for hogs to sleep in, scatter air chucked lime about the hog pens, keep them free from lice and worms, and see that the sleeping quarters are dry and free from dust. During three years the Experiment Station vaccinated 47,623 hogs.

How Orlando Murray Became Ollie

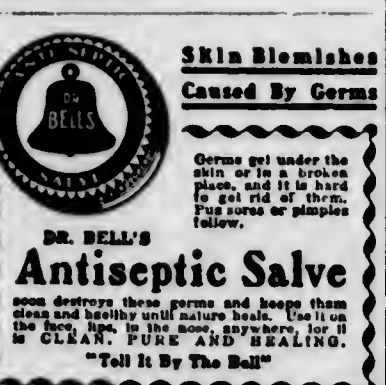

(Sunday's Courier-Journal)
Senator James revealed a great secret this week and a waiting world can read it as follows:
For a mountain of flesh and bone, surmounted by a slick bald head fringed with molasses-colored soft hair, "Ollie" seems certainly a most peculiar name. This has been remarked before. Sam Blythe, when he was doing his early brilliant work in "Who's Who and Why," began an article about Mr. James by saying: "Some time he was a happy, dimpled laughing baby, and it must have been then that they named him Ollie." Many have struggled to make the Senator admit that he must have been christened Ollie; and he has generally been pestered about it in many ways.

In fact, people speak of the singularity of his name so often that on his last visit to Marion, the Senator determined to consult with his mother and learn just how and why and wherefore he got it.

"Mother," said he, "how in the world did a great big ox like me come to get a name like Ollie?"

"It's one of the finest names in the world, my son," said Mrs. James, "for your name is Orlando."

Who shortened it?
Mrs. James explained that a neighbor, a dear old lady of Marion, had come to call the baby Ollie and that Ollie it became and has remained. This is the first authentic publication upon the momentous question, which has vexed Kentucky and other historians for a long while. The Senator's complete name is Orlando Murray James, which doesn't seem at all natural, nor does it conjure up one will it ever—the picture of the big man from Crittenden.

Teaching Agriculture

[From the Henderson Journal.]

WE notice by the dispatches that agriculture is to be taught in the rural schools of Kentucky—

It doesn't interfere too much with the curriculum (the regular course) in the school.

If that's the way they feel about it all right.

But we hereby cast our vote in favor of teaching agriculture in the rural schools.

Especially—

IF IT DOES interfere with the curriculum.

If the curriculum of the schools hasn't been interfered with a good many times in the past the clock would have been stopped for fifty years.

There have been two separate and distinct schools of thought in the arrangement of the public school curriculum. There has been the faction which seemed determined to cram the juvenile mind full of any old information that was useless, and the less value to the pupil when he stepped out into the world the more of it they tried to cram into him.

It has been done largely under the pretext of fitting the pupil for the college which he never attended. The pupils have answered by quitting school at the close of the grades and leaving a corporal's guard to matriculate.

The other faction in the educational world has struggled to inject into the school course something useful—something that would enable the graduate to battle skillfully and successfully in the world for which he was supposed to be fitting himself.

The practical or utilitarian faction was in a very small minority at the start, but gradually concessions have been wrung from the other side until in the most advanced schools they really teach the pupils something useful.

Let's take a mirror and look ourselves squarely in the face. There is nothing wrong with Kentucky. Yet farm lands are worth here only half what they are worth in other states which can boast no better soil. We could ask for no better soil. Where is a better climate?

THERE IS NOTHING WRONG BUT OURSELVES.

Boys who should be raised on the farm are raised in the towns and then sent on to feed the hungry, remorseless call of the city. One blade of grass grows where two would grow if some one would tell it how. Farmers are a dollar in debt where they would have two in the bank if they and their sons were enabled to understand agriculture as it can now be understood when there is opportunity to learn it.

The theory is twenty-five years ahead of the practice. Why not take a short cut and inject a little theory into the pupils of the country schools in place of unselective and classified useless information, facts and fancies, tricks and furbelows?

GROW FRUIT IN KENTUCKY

Big Sum Spent Outside State Each Year That Should Be Kept at Home

It is estimated that there are 9,000,000 apple trees of bearing age in Kentucky at the present writing. Our annual crop from these trees is something like 3,000,000 bushels of its better quality. We spend $17,000,000 for fruit in all kinds that could be grown in Kentucky.

It is useless to talk to many of the older farmers, for they will tell you:

ROOT CHIPPING.

"Oh, yes; when I was a boy you could raise all the fruit you wanted to. But now—well, I reckon it's just run out."

It must be the new generation with which we deal if we are to save this annual expenditure of $17,000,000 some time in the future. We cannot go out to every farmhouse in the state and have a chat with the farmer and his boys and girls, so we must find a way to teach them easily and effectively.

The Boys' Corp. clubs point the way to success. They have been made possible by the cooperation of teachers everywhere in the country, and the same is possible in fruit culture. At one of our normal schools numbers of the young people who are training for teachers are getting ready for this new crusade.

Almost any afternoon this spring in the basement of one of the big build- ings, tables littered with roots of young apple trees, twigs from standard varieties, thread, wire, tins and knives might have been seen.

As rapidly as deft fingers cut roots and twigs to fit snug, they were wound with thread and placed in small bundles. These bundles of ten, fifteen or twenty five day trees were then sent to the country by parcel post. These trees were to be planted in the home gardens of the pupil teachers and carefully cultivated for a year before being set out permanently.

That the interest in this real vital work of education is growing is shown by the fact that the number of trees

Build Your

Watering Troughs of Concrete

All thrifty farmers are building their watering troughs of concrete. There is a reason. Concrete does not rot, leak or rust. Once built of concrete, your trough, will last indefinitely, and there will be no upkeep cost. The same qualities make it the perfect material for feed troughs, fence posts, silos and farm building work in general. In concrete construction the most important thing to consider is the cement. Be sure to use the right brand—you are safe if you choose

LEHIGH PORTLAND CEMENT

It has been on the market for 14 years, and its quality is therefore unquestioned. If you use Lehigh you may be sure of a cement that has all the qualifications for making the strongest and best concrete.

NIGHT SCHOOL IN LOUISVILLE

folks that have kept us in our school for ten whole years. Don't you think I owe something to the people who have given me bread and butter for ten years?

That conversation made your correspondent vow that he would visit the little schoolhouse before the end of the spring term. He did ride out to the little building that is perched on a steep hillside to keep it out of the Ohio river during flood times. It was a dreary, rainy night. As he neared the trolley station he felt that there would be no one there for work, but he was mistaken. Four boys out of the eighteen enrolled were on hand and ready for business.

Not one of the four had walked less than a mile in the damp night air, and all of them had been at work all day. Yet there they were, smiling and bright and eager, youngsters who during the time they had been in school as little tots had done practically nothing.

When the teacher said, "I am sorry it's a bad night and there are only four present," your correspondent thought:

"Only four present! But if at this moment each and every schoolhouse in the county had just this number at work it would mean that each year 400 would be caught and held and developed into something better and finer than they would be otherwise. If it could be kept up for ten years it would mean that the county would have 4,000 made over citizens. In a few years it would mean a new state. It is most certainly very much worth while."
